Up for sale is my 79 Fiat Spider I bought while stationed in Germany it was in storage for 4 years. It has New exhaust, front upper and lower control arms, steering components, tires, and battery. The interior is rough the drivers seat frame is broken so I am using the passenger but I have the drivers seat, the top is in bad shape but I have a new one ready to install. It also comes with a hard top that was also bought in Germany, the car runs strong, the trans shifts good, it does not smoke, does not over heat, the body is in good condition, the owner before me tried to get it the Fiat red but painted it with Orange spray paint. I used to be Gloss Black, not sure why he did it. The undercarriage has been undercoated and is in good condition. The mileage to the best of my knowledge is correct. I was told that the 79k is original. The car does not have a radio, the heater works good. Auctioned at Ebay in 04/2009 for: Starting bid: US $1,100.00.	US	Safety	man.	2000 cc

This car was manufactured back in July of 1979, it is the last of the carburetor flat spiders. This was registered several times and its last registration they registered it as a 1981. Current title to the car lists it as a 1981. This Fiat is very much original, the body is for the most part clean for the cars age, this car was not restored it was kept clean and in this shape. the seats and interior are very clean, you will find minor cuts and sign of age but relevantly much nicer for its age. The dash has a minicrack by the driver's side vent, not easily visible, the car runs and drives, most recently the carburetor was replaced but it was not adjusted correctly, so it runs and drives but it runs rough, it can use a good tuneup. Auctioned at ebay in 09/2003 for: US $10,000.00 (Reserve not met). Update 12/2011: Presented in metallic brown with a tan interior, top and boot, this car remained in inventory since new and despite being 'on sale' at Nemet Motors of Jamaica, NY it was never sold. Nemet had a FIAT franchise back in 1980 and is still in business with numerous import brands to this day. The FIAT recently came out of inventory at the point of having covered just 177 miles from new. Although low mileage it had by definition had modest use and sensibly they performed a mechanical service to refresh its mechanics. This work included the fitting of a new timing belt, battery and tires and attention to the inevitable minor paint scratches accrued over 30 years of exhibition/storage. Offered with this remarkable unused FIAT is the original top boot, still in its packaging, jack, service notes/records, mileage statements and manuals. For the 1980 model year, a version with a catalytic converter and Bosch L-Jetronic fuel injection was introduced for California. This Fiat Spider 2000 Show Car is here on consignment from an older gentleman who has a 12-car collection here in Florida. Our seller is only the second owner of this car. He acquired it in November of 1986. He has since been its guardian as much as its owner. The original owner (a woman) walked into the Fiat dealership in San Diego, California and purchased this car off the showroom floor. She kept it until November 1986 when she sold it to our seller (the current owner). The car had only 32,493 miles on it when our seller purchased it. The car was a show car winning trophies until Covid hit. It has been stored in a climate controlled Man Cave here in Sarasota, making an appearance every now and then at a monthly Cars-n-Coffee. In 2024 the seller wanted to add spice to his Spider by having an upholstery shop create a custom interior. He tells me there was nothing wrong with the original interior except that it was boring. Also, the foam was a bit mushy. So, new foam and custom plaid inserts were crafted. Also the door panel inserts were customized with the plaid, there is a full stack of service records dating back to the original owner. The chain of custody runs unbroken from the San Diego showroom floor through to our seller. For sale: $19,200.	US	Safety	auto	132C3.031

Transmission: Manual. Title: Clear. It is an original Turbo Charged car, with a 5-speed manual transmission! I've had it for about 4 years. The car has been repainted in the original color and the paint has some minor blemishes. It has new tires with about 2K miles on them. As far as I know this car has spent its entire life in the dry heat of New Mexico. I have looked it over many times for rust or rust repair and have never found any rust or rework of rust spots. The top works fine but needs to be replaced. The entire interior appears in the pictures to look okay but it also needs to be replaced. Sometime in the car's past an after-market A/C unit was installed by a previous owner. It is still in the car but in four years I've never even tried to turn it on. The diaphragm that opens the waste gate valve (for turbo kick-in) began leaking oil last year so I plugged the hose that runs from the turbo down to the valve. Auctioned at Ebay in 03/2006 for: US $2,247.00 Reserve not met. Update 07/2019: New owner. Former New Mexiko car. 49k Miles indicated. This example was acquired by the seller in April 2017 from the husband of a late friend who is said to have owned it from new until 2000 and again in the late 2000s. Mechanical and cosmetic work under prior and current ownership is said to have included a repaint, interior overhaul, and period air conditioning retrofit as well as replacement of the turbocharger, brakes, tires, tune-up parts, cooling, suspension components. Vehicle Title: Salvage. 1981 Fiat Spider 2000. Pininfarina designed vehicle in very good mechanical and cosmetic condition for a vehicle of its age. It has not undergone any major restoration, and it presents as a nice daily-driver. It exhibits the usual wear and tear when looked at up close, but it is straight, solid and has no rust issues. The car was recently serviced by a local Fiat specialist, and it was driven almost every day last summer. It recently passed Oregon DEQ emissions test. The title is branded out of California, where the car was purchased. The previous owner told me that the car was stolen and sustained some damage to the hood prior to its recovery. This was confirmed by my mechanic who found no evidence of any structural damage to the car. The hood has been professionally repaired and it was recently re-sprayed. I have owned the car for over 5 years, and it has been a fun, reliable car. Auctioned at Ebay before 2026.	US	Safety	man.	2000 cc

This 1972 Fiat 124 Sport Spider remained registered with two owners in California before it was acquired by the seller in 2025, and approximately $12k of subsequent work included overhauling the cylinder head, electrical repairs, refreshing the interior, and replacing the clutch, timing belt, fuel gauge, gaskets, seals, and assorted cooling, steering, suspension, and braking components. Modifications include a Crane XRT700 electronic ignition setup, a Weber downdraft carburetor, and an aftermarket exhaust system with a tubular header. Finished in green over black vinyl, the car is powered by a 1.6-liter inline-four paired with a five-speed manual transmission. Equipment includes a black soft top, four-wheel disc brakes, 13" alloy wheels, and a heater. This 124 Sport Spider is now offered with an owner's manual, service records, spare parts, and a clean California title in the seller's name. Update 04/2026: This 1977 Fiat 124 Sport Spider is said to have spent an extended period in storage before its November 2023 acquisition by the seller, and subsequent refurbishment work included removing carbon from the cylinders, overhauling the cylinder heads, rebuilding the carburetor, replacing the timing belt, installing electronic ignition components, servicing the fuel, cooling, and braking systems, and more as described below. Powered by a 1.8-liter inline-four paired with a five-speed manual transmission, the car is finished in white over red upholstery. It also features a replacement red convertible top, front bumperettes, aftermarket front turn signals, basketweave-style 13" wheels, a rear bench seat, front bucket seats, a wood-rimmed steering wheel, woodgrain dashboard trim, and a cassette stereo linked to a pair of replacement speakers. This 124 Sport Spider shows 78k miles and is offered at no reserve with parts receipts, spare and removed components, and a clean California title in the seller's name. While retaining its original character in external and interior appearance, it has been improved underneath. It was imported from the USA in the 80's, converted, restored and modified to produce better performance and durability. Since then it has been used sparingly by three owners who have kept it garaged and regularly serviced. It has twin 4SDCOE Webbers, extractors and I believe internal engine improvements. It has strengthened front wishbones and suspension towers. It has NO RUST. The upholsterer who recently fitted new carpet commented on how good the floor pan looked. It is a good driver and I have done a lot of mechanical work to it since buying it 5 years ago. Last summer and fall I replaced the starter, fuel pump, rear universal joint and rewired from the starter to the ignition. Have also replaced the brake lines, pads, rotors and two calipers. First summer I had it I took it to Midwest Bayless Fiat in Columbus, Ohio and had them get it tuned up. They did the following: replaced timing and fan belts, new right rear brake light, replaced distributor cap, rotor and spark plugs, rebuilt carburetor, adjusted clutch cable, replaced radiator fan switch, replaced right side upper ball joint and all of the fuses. I have also put in a new battery and JVC CD car stereo with speakers. The car has an upgraded electrical ignition conversion, an upgraded 32 AFPA mechanical carburetor conversion, after market alloy rims and I will throw in two Fiat garage manuals, one cloth car cover and the fuzzy dice!! Windshield has cracks and plastic rear window has cracks. I have never driven it with the top up, only when it is nice outside. Never driven in the rain since I have had it and is stored in a garage during the winter. For sale: $2000. Update 04/2026: New owner. 50,000 Miles. Manual transmission. Does not currently run.
